CHAUTAUQUA WAS GREAT SUCCESS

Closing Days of Redpath Entertainment Marked by Highly Interesting Lectures.

COMING AGAIN NEXT YEAR

Over Hundred and Fifty Business Men of the City are Back of Movement.

The Redpath Chautauqua closed a highly successful week's engagement here Monday evening with the close of the Dunbar Revue of the Allies, and left here in Alma a far greater number of friends than it has ever had before.

The high standard of the lectures and the entertainments given this year has insured the return of the chautauqua to Alma again next year. Thursday evening the people of the city were asked to get behind the guarantee for the return of the chautauqua in 1919, and during the course of the evening one hundred and forty-nine men of Alma signed up to back the venture next year. Since that time several others signed the contract, so that there are now about one hundred and sixty men of the city backing the chautauqua for next year.

On Thursday evening Sir John Foster Fraser, F. R. G. S., of London, England, gave his address on "The Checkboard of Europe," which was listened to with intense interest by a large audience. His wide experience as a war correspondent fitted him well for such a lecture, having given him every possible chance to study European conditions at first hand.

He took up the Russian situation, giving many things in regard to Russia which were entirely new to his audience. The part that the various countries are playing in the great world war was brought out, particularly that of England. The audience was told things in regard to the United States that are enlightening, particularly our opinion of ourselves.

Friday afternoon James Pershing, brother of General Pershing, who is leading the American forces in France, drew a large crowd with his lecture, "Backing Up the Boys." The stores of the city closed for the lecture. Mr. Pershing did not dwell on the reputation of his brother, as some expected. Neither did he prove to be a speaker secured because of his brother's reputation. He was an able speaker and pounding home point after point in regard to the way we at home should back up the boys in the trenches. The lecture made a deep impression on the audience.

Friday night the light opera lovers were given a rare treat with the production of the "Chocolate Soldier" by a company of thirty, including the orchestra. The production made as big a hit as the production of the "Mikado," an opera given at a previous chautauqua.

Saturday afternoon music lovers were delighted with the concert given by the Chicago orchestral band, which rendered a number of selections that were particularly pleasing.

Capt. George Frederick Campbell of the British Royal Flying Corps, the attraction for Saturday night, made a big hit with his lecture, "A Soldier of the Sky." For the most part the lecture was a thrilling narrative of the experiences which Capt. Campbell had gone through, and held his audience spellbound throughout. He told in a vivid manner of his first encounter in the clouds, sixteen thousand feet above the earth, when he was wounded and came down in No Man's Land. His lecture ended with a plea for backing up the men at the front, the men who are removing the Hun scourge from the earth.

Monday afternoon Dr. Frank W. Gunsaulus of Chicago gave his lecture, "America and the World War." It was a most impressive lecture. It told of the designs of the Huns, designs created in the distorted brains of the Hun leaders years ago, designs of autocracy for world power. It told of the formation of America as the home of liberty; of the inevitable clash that must come between the two, between autocracy and democracy. He spoke of the great part America is to play in that great world struggle which has torn to shreds the peace of the world and laid Europe low, bleeding and struggling, fighting against horrors such as the world had never known in the past.

Monday night the chautauqua was closed with the Dunbar Revue, featuring the Grand Parade of the Allies, in which girls in native costumes representing the different nations at war with Germany appeared, and then the appearance of Joan of Arc to lead them forth to victory.

PASSED AWAY SATURDAY

Benjamin Burkholder, aged 66 years, died at his home on East Center street Saturday afternoon following a short illness with nephritis. He was a retired farmer, and moved to this city some months ago. The funeral services were held at the home Monday morning and the body was shipped to Alto for burial. Interment was made in the Alto cemetery Tuesday.

KILLED IN ACTION

Corporal George Myers is Second Alma Man to Make Great Sacrifice.

A telegram received Tuesday by Henry Myers carried word of the death of Corporal George Myers of the 125th Inf., Co. K, in action on August 1. Further particulars are not yet available.

George Myers thus becomes the second Alma man to be killed in action in the present struggle, and it is very probable that he was killed before the end of the big July drive, which also cost the life of Alma's first, Leslie McLean.

Corporal Myers held a responsible position at the Republic previous to enlistment less than a year ago. When he went to the colors he joined the old National Guard.

Corporal Myers is an Alma boy, and has been all his life. He was born just south of the city and received his education in the Alma public schools, and was a graduate of Alma high school.

There is a star on the service flag of the Republic and one on the high school service flag for Corp. Myers, which will be turned to gold, in honor of him, who has made the supreme sacrifice for country and humanity.

VOLUNTEERS ASKED IN CANNING WORK

Capable Leaders are Wanted to Direct Canning Work During Fall Months.

Many of the women of the city have expressed a desire for an opportunity to go where supervision of canning is going on. A few have thought that the money could more profitably be spent if directed toward work for adults instead of children. While extremely desirable that the women of town should have a community kitchen and by all means support the endeavors of the clubs much more than has been done, it is a false notion that money is wasted when spent on children. Of course the quantity will not be the same as the adult but everyone knows that there is no safer, richer investment than the training of children. They all so readily adopt new ways where many adults are so wedded to their methods that they won't change. However, many are using the cold canning method, liking it much better than the older way and finding it entirely safe and easier.

Some think a child would rather play than do club work. Could they but see the boys and girls from ten years and up coming here eagerly and spending one half day at strenuous work, faces happy and then go over the state, summer or winter, to see the child sewing its own clothes and of the family, making articles for the home, weeding gardens, raising pigs, poultry, or cattle, they would change their minds. So it is valuable work and the money raised by the city and still more that is to be asked for in order to complete the work, is wisely being used.

To assist in the work is a part of your patriotic duty, as big a part as necessary as the Red Cross and other war activities. More should volunteer, busy or not busy, to assist in leading. Your supervisor needs you, has been crippled this summer in the amount of work that should have been done because she had not enough leaders who would "Carry On." The success of the summer has been due to the sacrifices of a few patriotic ones who have assisted so royally.

All have heard the earnest appeal from the platform of the chautauqua for more work at home to back up the army—that we must do a little more of service even after our day's work is done. Busy people know that they can always do a bit more when needed, for where there is a will there is a way. All are working hard for the Red Cross, for Liberty Loans and for all war activities. Won't you, the ladies, back up the club work, give it some of your attention?

The bulk of the canning season comes in September and October at a time when your supervisor will have to direct the majority of her time to teaching though after the day's work is over she expects to give the remaining time to the furthering of club activities. Either the work just

NEW OFFICIALS UNDER CHARTER

Revised Charter to Call for Few More Officers for Important City Work.

POSITIONS ARE APPOINTIVE

Commissioners Will Be Required to Have Lived in Alma for Five Years.

Last week in the first of a series of articles on the charter, which will come before the voters for their approval or rejection in November, The Alma Record took up the first three chapters, which detailed the general powers of the city, the boundaries of the city and wards and the elective officers of the city.

This week The Record will tell something of the appointed officials, the oath of office, qualification of officers and official bonds, which are dealt with in chapters four and five.

In the coming articles no attempt will be made to adhere to the exact wording of the charter, but simply to give the important parts of it as they will affect the city under the commission form of government, that the voters and other residents of Alma, who are interested in the movement may know what the charter contains, and how it may be expected to work out.

Chapter four takes up the appointive officials. It directs the city commission at its second regular meeting in May of each year to appoint the following officers—a city manager, a city clerk, a city treasurer, a city marshal, two constables, a city physician, a purchasing agent, a city attorney, a building inspector and a sealer of weights and measures. They will be appointed by ordinance for a term not to exceed a year and may be removed at any time for cause, as is provided in another chapter.

The commission is also directed to appoint a board of review consisting of three members and a board of special assessors consisting of three members, who shall hold office for three years, except when the charter first goes into effect, when the terms shall be three, two and one years for the members of these boards. Thereafter one member is to be appointed each year.

Following the canvass of the votes at any city election by the city clerk, he shall notify each of the persons elected and they are required to qualify before a certain date, mentioned later, or the office is deemed vacant. Vacancies shall be filled by appointment as later provided in the charter, and for such time as is provided by the charter.

All persons appointed to office shall be notified by the clerk within five days thereafter, and they are required to qualify within ten days following mailing of notice. On failure to qualify the place may be filled at once or later as desired. All appointive officers shall hold office until successors are appointed and have qualified.

The city manager, subject to the approval of the commission shall appoint the chief of police, the chief of the fire department, and to employ such other persons as it may be deemed necessary, are necessary to properly conduct the business and public affairs of the city. Such appointees, except as provided for in the charter may be removed at will by the city manager.

All employees needed on the public works of the city, not let by contract, shall be hired by the city manager and may be discharged at will. Only bona fide residents of the city, except in the case of skilled laborers, not obtainable within the city, shall be employed, whether the work is done by the city or by contract, provided that they can be obtained at the going wage.

This final portion of chapter four is a big change from the present methods, and insures local people employment on city works wherever possible.

Chapter five takes up the oath of office, the qualification of officers and the official bonds.

It provides that the justice of the peace shall take the constitutional oath of office with the county clerk, in the same manner as justices in the townships. It provides that all other officers of the city shall take the oath of office with the city clerk, within ten days after mailing of notice of election, except in the case of supervisors, who shall qualify and take the oath before or on the second Monday in April, following their election.

It is provided that no person shall be elected or appointed to office in Alma unless he is a citizen of the United States and a resident of the city, except in the case of the city manager who may or may not be a resident of the city. It is provided that the city manager shall be a man of good business and executive ability and if practical, a civil or mechanical engineer. Things being equal the city commission is required to give preference to a man from Alma for the office.

It provides that the members of the commission shall have been resi-

REGISTER SATURDAY

The young men of Gratiot county, who have reached the age of twenty-one years since June 5, 1918, are required to register with the Gratiot County Draft Board on Saturday, August 24, at the offices of the board in Alma, over Wright's furniture store.

Man power to defeat the Hun must be forthcoming pending the new draft law, and the War Department has decided to register and call these men if they are needed before the new draft law is ready and working.

THE ALMA PUBLIC SCHOOLS TO OPEN

Forty-Two Instructors Will Be on Hand for Start of School September Third.

The Alma public schools will be opened Tuesday, September 3, with enrollment that will be larger than any previous year, due to the steady increase in the growth of the city during the past year. It is recalled that the recent school census indicated an increase of eighty-five per cent in the number of school children in two years.

Two new courses will be opened in the high school this year. German, like Germany, has gone to the bow-wow, and is replaced by the study of French. It is open to the 11th and 12th grade students. General science which replaces physiography will be open to the 9th and 10th grade students.

Military training, which was instituted in the schools last year, will hold down a still more important place, and it is planned to give credit for work properly done according to military discipline.

A social service of school nurse is to be employed this year. The health of the child is of the greatest importance, and under the skilled supervision of a health specialist there should be a very noticeable improvement in this respect in the school rooms.

The Republic school, now building, will probably be ready about December 1, and will aid greatly in relieving the congested conditions which is certain to exist when the schools open.

The schools will open with a corps of forty-two teachers, and it is expected that it will be necessary to add two or three more during the course of the school year. The list of instructors follows:

A. F. Shultz, Superintendent.

DIED IN SERVICE

Corporal Eluid Sanchez of College Drowned at Camp Dix, N. J.

Corporal Eluid Sanchez of this city who offered his all to the flag, was drowned at Camp Dix Wednesday, according to word received here yesterday. He was a member of Co. E, 354th Field Artillery.

The body of the Alma college man is being brought back to this city for a military funeral which will be held Friday afternoon at 2:00 p. m. Co. E, 87, Michigan State Troops, will be present at the funeral services.

Sanchez came to Alma four years ago from New Mexico, and penniless worked his way through college, representing the institution one year at local contest. At the end of his junior the Michigan Intercollegiate Orator-year he sought an officer's commission at Fort Sheridan, and failing to obtain it came back to Alma and worked at the Republic until called this spring on the draft. He quickly obtained an appointment as corporal due to his training at Fort Sheridan.

CANNING CLUBS KEEPING BUSY

Youthful Members of Canning Clubs of City Now Putting Up Garden Stuff.

TEAMS GIVE INSTRUCTIONS

Visit Nearby Towns and Instruct Classes in Various Methods of Canning.

At the present time the boys' and girls' clubs are reaping the benefits of their gardens, many of which have been faithfully and well kept through the hot days of June, July and August. The gardens have looked fine all over the city and it is pleasing to see how interested the boys and girls are and how well they have worked.

Now, as the products of their gardens need much attention and also as there is much surplus from their parents' gardens, these club members are intensely interested in canning. It is quite a common sight about Alma to see various children, ranging from ten to eighteen years of age, taking their baskets loaded down with cans and vegetables over to the high school and later in the day returning, faces beaming and hearts happy, with a basket of beautiful and well-canned goods. Each club has one-half day a week in this canning kitchen and then goes home to put up more vegetables and fruit.

These clubs are interested in seeing who will outdo the other, both in the number present at the canning kitchen half-day and also in the number of pints put up in that time. The home canning of each club is also being counted and in September the sum total of kitchen canning and home canning will be credited to them. In this way the club having the highest record will be determined and an adequate prize awarded. Prizes are also offered for every child who completes his project, either garden, canning, or the garden and canning combined, and for those who have the best gardens, best canning work, etc. It is hoped that arrangement can be made for a free trip and picnic to Lansing and M. A. C. either in September or October, where every member who brings his or her project to a successful close will have a chance to go. To accomplish this it is hoped that enough citizens of Alma who own autos and who believe that a splendid work is being done among our young people, will volunteer so there will be conveyances for all who "go over the top" with their work. The city supervisor will be glad if those who wish to help in a good cause will hand in their name to her.

From the clubs that have been learning to can (come over, see them at work any time you desire) a team of three members per club has been chosen and trained for two weeks so as to demonstrate canning. Last week, each club gave a demonstration for their mothers and interested friends. More demonstrations are soon to follow when the public will be welcome. Four teams are thus at work and they are splendid, enthusiastic ones. Team 1 is Lell and Lois Smith and Dorothy Allen, team 2, Arthur Butrick, Lucille Sabin and Esther Wright; team 3, Mary Wood, Catherine and Loretta Barry, while team 4 is composed of Inga King, Onda Rench and Helen Platt. The first girl mentioned in each team being the demonstrator and the other two her team mates. A boys' canning club has been organized and is doing good work. A team for them will soon be trained.

This week, the teams have given demonstrations in neighboring towns; team 9 at Riverdale, team 1 at Elwell, and team 8 at Wheeler. The other teams will soon do the same. The teams have worked well, are A No. 1 and have won the praise of all who have heard them. August 23 at 1 p. m. at the gas office on State street a public demonstration will be given where all teams will compete with each other and three judges will decide which is the best and strongest team. This will represent the city of Alma and it seems probable will be chosen by Miss Anna B. Cowles, state leader for girls, as one of the twenty teams from all of Michigan to attend the State fair at Detroit September 2-7, for the purpose of demonstrating there and publicly showing up the club work. The round trip fare for the three members in the successful team and one adult, probably the leader, is paid by the fair association, other expenses, such as room and board, will be met by the city as this is no more than right for the team has worked hard and willingly to earn this honor and also has back of them a high record of fruit and vegetables canned. This means a patriotic service to their nation. They have often times denied themselves much pleasure, vacation, visits, etc., in order to go many times to do the canning and do the training. This is more than some of us have done and the young people have done it with smiling faces and singing hearts. The first prize is $45 in War Savings Stamps; 2nd, $30 and the 3rd, $15. They have their eye on that too.

Since beginning this work, July 20, until August 10, there have been

MEMORIAL SERVICE

Entire City Turned Out to Honor Memory of Alma's First to Fall.

Sunday evening hundreds of Alma citizens turned out to the memorial services which were held in the chautauqua tent in honor of Leslie McLean, the sixteen-year-old Alma lad killed in France July 20, where the young hero was fighting the scourge of the world.

Co. 87, Michigan State Troops, in uniform, were present, aiding in rendering a far greater impressiveness to the occasion, and to the memory of Alma's youngest soldier.

The churches of the city were closed for the evening, all joining in a joint memorial service, the first that Alma has had occasion for. Hand in hand all creeds joined that all might honor the memory of one who had given himself for them.

The service was opened by a selection by a mixed quartette, after which Rev. J. Frank Jackson of the Episcopal church, in fitting words told how the young man had been fighting for everyone, and of the service which he had rendered to his country and to God; and of his belief that this spirit of sacrifice would find its reward in the after life.

Mr. Bliss rendered a solo following this address, and then Rev. Priest of the Baptist church praised the spirit of the young man, who had gone forth to fight and to sacrifice for peace and for world betterment.

Following a selection by the male quartette Rev. Duffey, former pastor of the lad, spoke of the sacrifice he had made, of the necessity of reconstructing ourselves anew, at the memorial service, to the great task ahead. He spoke of the need that there was, and how the blood of men was calling forth for the utter destruction of that government which had brought about the great war, and which has proved the greatest scourge of history.

DIED THURSDAY

Wallace T. Wier of this city died at his home Thursday afternoon at the age of 64 years. The funeral services were held at the home Saturday morning, Rev. Duffey having charge. The body was shipped to Clare for burial at noon Saturday.

To my friends, voters in the 8th Congressional District:

My name will appear on the ballot you will cast at the PRIMARY ELECTION, AUGUST 27th, 1918, as a candidate for nomination as your Representative in Congress.

In the past it has been my privilege to be able to visit the six Counties of this District and discuss pending questions, face to face. This year I am denied that opportunity.

The winning of the war is the uppermost thought in everybody's mind, and to that problem I must devote my time.

The Ways and Means Committee, of which I am a member, is in constant session, in the preparation of a further bill to raise money to enable us to continue our progress on the road to victory. I have your needs and affairs at heart and will do my utmost to promote the country's welfare, which is our mutual affair. Bear in mind that I will take the time to attend to your legislative needs; will attend to things of vital interest to you here in Washington; when possible, I will relieve your anxiety about your boys in the service, and gladly furnish any information you may be troubled over; will promptly reply to your letters and will at all times be glad to exchange views with you on pending legislation. You have been very kind to me in the past and I feel duty bound to reciprocate that kindness, when in my power so to do.

Aug. 15th 1918.

PRESIDENTS SAY STAY IN COLLEGE

Michigan College Heads Tell Young Men Need is Great for Trained Men.

THREE TO FORT SHERIDAN

Alma College Men Sent There to Get Drill Work and Then Train Collegians.

Presidents of the various colleges, normals and the university, who were recently in session at the University of Michigan are urging boys under twenty-one years of age to stay in college.

At the meeting they issued the following statement:

The government of the United States is desirous that young men enter college and remain there so long as they can be spared from active military service. President Wilson, Secretary Baker and Secretary Daniels have publicly so stated. The reason for the attitude of the government lies in the fact that college trained men are in demand as officers and for specialized war service and will be needed in the reconstruction period following the war.

"U. S. Needs Trained Men."

"To connect the college directly with the prosecution of the war, military training will be introduced this fall under the direction of the war department into the university, colleges and normal schools of the state as generally as possible.

"It is expected that military training will be in operation in the higher educational institutions in Michigan the coming year. The war department is now conducting training camps for men who will be in these institutions and will assist in giving military instructions."

"Stay in College?"

"We, therefore, urge that boys under 21 enter colleges as a means of serving their country; both in war and in the years following the war, and we hope that parents, the press and public-minded citizens generally will join in the nationwide campaign which is under way to keep our universities, colleges and normal schools filled with students during these years of war.

(Signed) Harry B. Hutchins, president University of Michigan.

Frank S. Kedzie, president Michigan Agricultural college.

Fred W. McNair, president Michigan College of Mines.

Harlan F. Feeman, president Adrian college.

Samuel Dickie, president Albion college.

Harry M. Crooks, president Alma college.

Joseph W. Mauck, president Hillsdale college.

Edward D. Dimment, president Hope college.

Herbert L. Steetson, president Kalamazoo college.

Theodore H. Wilson, president Olivet college.

Charles McKenny, president Michigan State Normal college.

E. C. Warriner, president Central State Normal school.

Dwight B. Waldo, president Western State Normal school.

James H. B. Kay, president Northern State Normal school.

Fred L. Keeler, state superintendent of public instruction."

President Crooks of Alma college this week said that the military status of the college man has been cleared up by the War Department.

The student soldier is enlisted in the military service and will be placed in Class 5-D by the local board.

The draft boards will not include him in calls for induction as long as he remains in the Students' Army Training Corps. When his number is reached the fact is reported to the college president, the commanding officer and the Adjutant General.

Report of the man's record as a student is then made with the recommendation that he be sent to an officers' training camp, called to an army camp or permitted to remain in college by being transferred to the Enlisted Reserve Corps.
